If you answered YES to any of the questions above, then i advice you read on.

A recruitment agency, also known as staffing agency or employment agency is one of the fastest growing recession proof businesses of the 21st century. This is due to the rapidly rising global unemployment rate. You can take advantage of this trend and make money for yourself by genuinely connecting job seekers with companies that have job openings.

You can even go further by actually conducting the screening exercise, interview and the entire job recruitment process on behalf of corporate organizations. Another good reason why starting a recruitment agency is a good move is that companies are looking for ways to reduce their operating cost and one of such ways they consider is cutting down on HR expenditure.

Rather than handle human resource needs in-house, companies are now outsourcing such tasks to recruitment agencies; for efficiency and cost-saving purposes. Do you want to start your own recruitment agency? Are you looking for guidelines to help you start up? Then read further-:

How to Start a Recruitment Agency – Sample Business Plan Template

1. Choose a niche

It is important to decide on the type of recruitment agency you would like to start and the industry you want to serve. For instance, you may choose to serve the banking industry or the food and beverage production industry. Each of these industries is different and unique in their staffing needs. So you would have to select the industry you would like to serve.
