I updated to the latest iOS update and thought it would fix it, but it does not have it. I'E asked the people around me and they said the issue was fixed for them in the last update. That's what I'm confused about. In addition, do not restart the phone helps when you record external audio as well? I tried it and the microphone just takes my voice. Any feedback would help, thank you! It is easy to register the screen on your iPhone as it is an inbuilt function that allows you to record the activity of the screen whenever you want. So it does not matter if you're sailing on the internet, you're on a video call, you're playing a game or is involved in some other screen activity. But to use this feature, you are required to check if the screen recording feature is already in the control center or not? If it's there, it's good to go. It will make you easier for you to go for a recording directly from the main screen. But if not, you are forced to add it first. To add this feature, you are obliged to follow some simple steps. Step 1: Go to the Ä € ä, ~ "SettingsÄ € € and goes down to locate the Control Center. Now touch the Ä € ä € ‡ Ä "Customize Controls.Ä € ä € ~ Find the ~ ä € ‡ ‡ Ä Screen ", on the personalization interface and select the Icon + . This will add the recording feature in the control center. Step 2: Now, all you need to do is increase the control center and start the process of recording whenever you want. For this, you can slide to pull the control center menu in case you are using iPhone 8 or earlier. On the other hand, if you are using iPhone x or later, it is necessary to reduce the menu from the upper right corner. Step 3: To save the screen, tap the "screen" screen and select "Start recording. This will start writing your iPhone screen. If you want to capture your voice or the Background, you can do it by connecting the microphone. It is present below the screen recording. Step 4: When you finish with recording, and you want to stop recording o, you can do it touching the red status bar followed by Ä ä € ~ "SSTOP.Ä ä € ~ is present on the top of the iphoneia Ä ä € € ~ ä € € You can stop the recording returning to the control center and then touching the screen writing icon. When interrupting the screen writing, the recorded file will be automatically saved in the "Photos Ä, ~, of the phone and make a video. Take you catch and save on the computer. Reverse Control your iPhone on your PC for a full screen experiment. Experience.
