As a mathematical person I would have preferred a bit more of the technical side of such algorithms. Professor du Sautoy, who also brought us the documentary series The Story of Maths, takes a very complex subject and makes it understandable and relatable. By showing us some of the algorithms most essential to our lives, he reveals where these two-thousand year old problem solvers came from; how they work, what they have achieved and how they are now so advanced they can even programme themselves. TheyAre the step-by-step instructions working quietly behind the scenes of everyday life; in internet search engines, satnavs, air traffic control and food delivery services. Without us noticing, modern life has been taken over. We focus on the most interesting and surprising examples which represent different categories of algorithms and look into the historical example of Euclid's Algorithm from two and half thousand years ago; the modern godfather of algorithms could only be Alan Turing. Football players are used to explain the algorithm behind Google, while he shows how Euclid's ancient algorithm will tell you how best to tile your bathroom. Our preview videos are intended for broadcasters looking to licence content from the Open University. They can even save lives, as the recipient of a donor kidney matched by an NHS algorithm attests: "I feel a lot of gratitude to the algorithm." Can't have it both ways, I suppose. The other negative of the program is that, by his own admission, Professor du Sautoy doesn't like This Is Spinal Tap...Suggest an edit or add missing contentYou have no recently viewed pages "In this program, Professor Marcus du Sautoy lifts the veil on algorithms that touch our lives every day; most of us are unaware of their extraordinary impact. In this entertaining and instructive paper, Professor Marcus du Sautoy pulls the curtain back on these small pieces of mathematics to show how they complete complex operations so efficiently. Taking daily examples, such as ordering aircraft taking off from Heathrow, du Sautoy demonstrates use, importance and . And if you've looked up Valentine's Day gift idea guides, you're presented with either ridiculous suggestions that are more expensive than the furniture in my living room, or, it's like...a Champion baseball cap. (I straight up saw that in a guide. It's labeled as a wax but it's more of a paste, the secret ingredient being the inclusion of dry shampoo, which is what gives it the unique position-staying power without being crispy all while having a natural, non-shiny appearance. Read more in our complete guide to understanding men's hair styling products. So, this isn't really a humorous book about Aziz Ansari's dating experiences, it's more like a book about dating in the modern world, written by the very humorous Aziz Ansari. I was introduced to Aziz's stand-up by my oldest son, and I've been hooked on him ever since. He's hilarious, and if you haven't seen him perform you're missing out.
